WHAT IS A BTEC?

BTEC (which stands for the Business & Technology Education Council) offers high-quality, career-focused qualifications grounded in the real world of work.

BTEC courses focus on skills-based learning and are designed around themed units. Rather than testing everything at the end, BTECs are tested throughout the course using assessments based on real-life scenarios.

This practical approach allows learners to develop and apply the knowledge, skills and behaviours that employers and universities are looking for.

With a BTEC qualification, you will learn and develop key skills such as:

Organisation and working to deadlines

Ability to learn and adapt

Sector-specific skills and knowledge

Initiative and problem solving of employers prefer their employees to have a mix of academic and technical qualifications.¹

91%

1 in 4

learners in the UK enter higher education with a BTEC qualification - that's over 100,000 learners a year.²

1 in 5

of the UK adult working population have a BTEC, so they are qualifications that all employers recognise.³

BTEC AND APPRENTICESHIPS

Apprenticeships provide an excellent way of developing skills and achieving qualifications while employed in a job. You can start an apprenticeship at the age of 16 and over. The different levels (2 - 7) give you the opportunity to progress to a high level of expertise.

As an employee, you can earn as you learn, and gain practical skills from the workplace. What's more, career progression for apprentices is excellent, with many advancing to highly skilled jobs or higher education in a college or university.

BTEC HIGHER NATIONALS

You may also choose to go into Higher Education via a BTEC Higher National Certificate (equivalent to first year of a degree) or Higher National Diploma (equivalent to first two years of a degree) before progressing to a full degree.

BTEC Higher Nationals are internationally recognised, career focused higher education qualifications that allow for a top-up into your chosen university, or entry into the world of work. There are over 40 subject areas to choose from and are co-designed with industry to provide real-world experience as well as academic knowledge.

This ensures you'll leave with the required expertise as identified by business and industry, and with the flexibility to go straight into employment or continue to a degree.
